Ventura Friends of the Library has a designated space there, visible straight ahead as you walk in the door. It is furnished with some comfy seating and a table where our membership brochures can be displayed. There are shelves where books are offered for sale. Payment is accepted in receptacles on the honor system. Friends of the Library Board members Jill Forman and Ellen Klope are managing the sales there.

Among other useful features, the library has 2 study rooms. Priority for the rooms is given to literacy tutors. All other bookings are on a first come basis. Rooms may be booked with a library staff member during open hours for up to 2 hours, up to one week in advance. The rooms contain a table, a large video monitor, electric outlets and 4 chairs. Eight people is the maximum that could comfortably be accommodated (if you can locate 4 more chairs).

Ventura Friends of the Library gratefully acknowledges those who donated to their Hill Road Capital Campaign:
